Integrator and creator of RFID solutions

Paris France

listing.download.description

Since 1999, we have been offering innovative traceability solutions with a high return on investment based on the integration of RFID (Radio Frequency Identification) and NFC (Near Field Communication) technologies.

We offer you personalized support in all stages of your traceability project, from the definition of needs and means, exchanges with your information system including change management, the implementation of equipment in the field and the training of operators, to telephone support and maintenance.

Our know-how in traceability solutions comes from both the skills of our teams of developers and technicians and our 20 years of experience in the implementation, within the industrial sector, of robust solutions, easy to use, and ensuring immediate and measurable gains.
