Procsea has developed a complete eprocurement platform to meet the specific problems of buyers of fresh products.

The Procsea platform is:

- A "universal" platform: our platform is interoperable (designed to fit into existing systems and applications via API, EDI), so the da is centralized in a single source.
- Key tools to meet your problems: invoicing, traceability, sustainability, marketplace stores, supplier interface, dashboards to bette manage your activity.

Our customers all testify to the time and reliability savings that our solution has brought them. By digitizing their transactions, they were able to refocus on their core business and increase their productivity while reducing errors.
